Subject: Detail of Military Personnel to NASA (Revalidated 4/9/09)

Responsible Office:

1. Policy

- a. NASA officials may request the detail of military personnel from the military services to perform appropriate services for NASA.
- b. Military detailees are primarily intended to provide a unique resource of capability and experience not otherwise readily available to NASA. In addition, military detailees may also provide a vital link in the cross flow of scientific, technical, and programmatic information between NASA and the parent service.
- c. In view of these considerations, a military detailee position will --
 - (1) Require specialized qualifications and skills acquired in the military services that will benefit NASA in the discharge of its statutory functions and, at the same time, provide the detailee with training and/or experience to enhance the detailee's military career and benefit the parent service upon return.
 - (2) Focus on engineering, technical management, medical, program management physical or life sciences, or flight crew assignments.
Requests for exceptions to these general provisions will be considered only when justified to meet unusual needs.
- d. Personnel requirements for nonastronauts will be planned on the basis that military detailees will return to the parent service upon completion of a 3-year tour. Only in very exceptional cases, in which it can be clearly established that because of uncompleted work on a specific project that the loss of the detailee would be seriously detrimental, will an extension be requested. The agreements listed in paragraph 4 specify that extension of periods of detail up to 1 year may be made, and it is expected that requests for further extensions will not be required. It is incumbent upon NASA supervisors to anticipate tour completions for detailees and to provide for timely replacements, as may be required.
- e. Special procedures required in the selection, assignment, reassignment, extension, or other matters affecting the detailing of astronauts within the military detailee program are developed, recommended, and implemented between the Director, Johnson Space Center, and the Director, Export Control & Interagency Liaison Division, Office of External Relations, in conjunction with other interested NASA Headquarters officials.

f. Military personnel will not be requested for positions in functional areas in which substantial direct support currently is being provided by the Department of Defense (DoD) under an agreement for such service or that can be more effectively supported through the negotiations of a new direct support agreement.

g. Significant changes will not be made in the duties of a detailee outside the approved position description or the permanent duty station of a detailee without obtaining approval of the parent service through the Director, Export Control & Interagency Liaison Division, Office of External Relations.

h. Reimbursement for each detailee will be funded by the assigned duty organization, and organizations requesting detailee positions will certify the availability of funds for reimbursement for an incumbent of the desired grade in the letter of request for position approval.

2. Applicability
